FREIGHT RATE BILL PASSED

NOW OUT OF THE HANDS OF THE HOUSE

Four Days Spent in Its Discussion—Hepburn and Williams Close the Debate—General Capital News.

Washington, Feb. 9.—After nearly four days of discussion the house to day, by a vote of 326 to 17, passed the Esch-Townsend bill providing for the regulation of freight rates. The negative vote was made up of eleven Republicans and six Democrats.

The debate on the railroad rate bill in the house to day was closed by Williams (Miss.) for the Democrats, and Hepburn (Iowa) for the Republicans. During his address Williams said the Republicans needed nothing more than a marking out of a pathway to follow the president, not because he is the president or a Republican, but because he was outlining a proper policy for the American people.

The speech of Hepburn was rather a defense of himself. He said that his deeds and acts were a sufficient answer to the "lies and slanders" which had been heaped upon him.

The bill known as the Hepburn bill, he said, had been prepared by the attorney general and he only yielded to his colleagues on the committee on the Esch-Townsend bill because he did not want the committee to be a target for scribbles and wanted sensational headlines.

He devoted some time to a strong presentation of the merits of the majority's measure.

"Oh," he said, amidst Democratic laughter, "I know how non-partisan you are."

Williams said he might be true in some things, as Mr. Grover once said yesterday that the Democrats "camped to night where he camped last night," but he loudly proclaimed, facing the Republican side, that on this question "it is you who are camping this year where the Democracy camped last year." If, he said, the majority in the house did not follow the president's recommendations, it proved the necessity for an automatic coupler between the white house and the house of representatives.

"A Republican Daniel is calling you," he exclaimed, "and he is at the other end of the avenue, and he is calling you to do identically the same thing you refused to do because it came out of a Democratic Nazareth."

Discussing the merits of the bill, Williams said the country had waited and waited for the railroads themselves to do it justice. He agreed in part with McCall (Mass.), who had said the right to fix rates was a dangerous power to confer on seven men, but he argued it was a choice between evils, as only about seven great railroad magnates, acting in conjunction with one another, were directing the stream of American commerce in the channels they wished, and discriminating wherever they saw fit. If the fixing of rates was to be lodged in some hands, Williams said, he preferred it to be a government tribunal, "weak and ineffective as such tribunals are."

The Townsend bill, he said in conclusion, was a much better bill than he ever thought would come from the Republican side of the chamber.

Hepburn (Iowa), chairman of the committee on interstate commerce, closed for the Republicans. He explained the difficulties of preparing such a measure as the bill reported, saying no two men entertained the same opinion either as to what was in the bill or what ought to be in it. Hepburn digressed for a moment and received sympathetic applause from both Democrats and Republicans when he asked to be excused for introducing a matter of personal interest into the proceedings, which was the first time he had done so in eighteen years of service.

"If I have been criticized," he said with emotion, "I have borne it. If I have been slandered and lied about, I have submitted to it, content that my deeds and my acts might be placed in opposition to and in answer to the libels of those who traduced me."

But, said Hepburn, he regarded the bill as a rough draft, after conferences with the president and members of his cabinet. He denied the Townsend bill was an administration bill, nor, he said, was any bill that he knew of an administration bill. As finally offered he said that what was known as the Hepburn bill was, with the exception of but two words, the product of the brain of the attorney general. He had yielded, however, to his colleagues on the committee in the matter of the Esch-Townsend bill not that he did not have confidence in his bill, but because he did not want the committee "to be the target of every scribbler who wanted sensational headlines."

After commending the court of transportation feature of the bill, Hepburn, in concluding urged the railroads to a strict obedience of the law. They must learn, he said, that there was a power greater than they; that the interests of the multitude were greater than any interests that could be subserved by money and wrong and obedience. "They must learn, too, that the people are alert now lest

SAYS SHE ALONE COMMITTED THE CRIME

Woman so Many People are Trying to Save from the Gallows Makes a Statement Exonerating all Others.

Reading, Pa., Feb. 9.—Mrs. Kate Edwards, who, together with Samuel Gresson, is under sentence to be hanged next Thursday for the murder of her husband, to day confessed she alone committed the murder. She entirely exonerated Gresson.

Mrs. Edwards' statement will not be made public until it is presented to the board of pardons, but the inference is left she has admitted that she alone committed the crime. Mrs. Edwards and Gresson, who is a colored man, were convicted of the murder of Edwards and since the death sentence has been pronounced extraordinary efforts have been made to save them from the gallows.

Second—Termination of all government aid and subsidies to religious sects or organizations.

Third—Formation of church associations into civil corporations amenable to the same laws as other organizations.

The bill comprises thirty-two articles. The text of Article 1st: "The state heretofore neither recognizes nor contributes to any religious denomination. Public establishments of religion now existing are suppressed. All religious budgets of appropriations of government departments or communes are suppressed. The exercise of religion is hereafter free, under the sole restriction that such exercise must accord with public order."

The article abolishing the concordat says: "All laws and orders relative to public organization or recognition of a religious denomination are abrogated, particularly the law ratifying the convention made between the pope and the government of France."

A NEW BILL

Offered in the French Chamber for Separation of Church and State.

Paris, Feb. 9.—The government's new bill providing for separation of church and state was presented in the chamber of deputies to day amid applause. The bill does not differ materially from the project of former Premier Combes.

Paris, Feb. 9.—The Rouvier ministry to day presented to the chamber of deputies the draft of a new bill for the separation of church and state. The text of the new measure makes separation of the church and state definite and conclusive, but omits a number of details of the Combes bill, which had aroused antagonism. The essential points of the new measure are:

First—Abolition of the concordat, whereby relations of the church and state were established.

Second—Termination of all government aid and subsidies to religious sects or organizations.

Third—Formation of church associations into civil corporations amenable to the same laws as other organizations.

The bill comprises thirty-two articles. The text of Article 1st: "The state heretofore neither recognizes nor contributes to any religious denomination. HOCH NOW IN CHICAGO

THE MUCH MARRIED MAN SEEN AT LAST

Chicago, Feb. 9.—Johann Hoch, indicted for bigamy, suspected of murder and a man of many aliases, arrived in Chicago to night and for several hours after reaching here was interrogated by the police with small results. When the train bearing Hoch and Officer Loftus, who held him in custody, rolled into the La Salle street station a large crowd had gathered to see the famous prisoner, but contrary to the general expectation there were none of his alleged wives among the number. Hoch had evidently expected a number of his wives to meet him at the station, but he was plainly disappointed that they did not come.

When Hoch and Loftus alighted from the train the detail of policemen who had been sent to the depot to meet them was able to control the crowd with great difficulty. People pushed and shoved in an excited manner as they strove to get close enough to the prisoner to get a look at him. When he was recognized a number of people jeered and booed him. Police hurried Hoch through the depot and on the sidewalk outside had another crowd to deal with, but they quickly hustled Hoch into a patrol wagon and started for the East Chicago avenue police station, a mile distant.

Outside the station a third crowd was gathered, and it was larger and more obstreperous than the others. It was found necessary to call officers from inside the station before the walk could be cleared sufficiently to allow the prisoner to be taken into the station. He was taken at once to the office of Police Inspector George Shipley, where he was subjected to a searching examination, which continued for several hours. Hoch admitted at the outset that he had married Mrs. Marie Goerk Hoch, and that the marriage was illegal. He would admit nothing else.

During the evening five women who claimed to be wives of Hoch, called at the police station and were placed in a separate room under guard of several policemen. None of them, Mrs. Emilie Fischer-Hoch, saw him for a minute and admitted him with the exclamation: "You old hog, you got my $750, didn't you?"

Hoch made no reply to this, but smiled as though he considered the affair of $750 rather as a joke than otherwise.

Later the five women were, one at a time, admitted into the office of the inspector and all identified Hoch as the man to whom they were married. When Mrs. Marie Goerk-Hoch was admitted into the room, Hoch for the third time declared he married her, but that the marriage was illegal. He also confessed to having married Mrs. Emilie Fischer-Hoch, when she was shown into the room. A physician who had attended Mrs. Walcker-Hoch, the last wife of Hoch, identified him as the husband of Mrs. Walcker. At midnight, Hoch was still being questioned by the police, but had confessed nothing of any murder.

Jordan said he had been the agent of four accused senators, and testified he was employed by Clarence Grande, of the Phoenix Building and Loan association, and was asked if he could go to any senators and make a money proposition to them for their protection in any investigation likely to be held. Jordan said he had given Senators French, Bunkers, Simmons and Wright each $300 in cash for their help.

St. Louis, Feb. 9.—Sustaining the demurrer of the defense, Judge Foster to day ordered a verdict of acquittal in the case of John J. Ryan, charged with embezzlement, grand larceny and obtaining money under false pretenses in an alleged "get-rich-quick" investment concern. Circuit Attorney Sager immediately entered a nolle prosequi in the other indictments against Ryan, thus wiping out all the charges against him.

AWED BY MILITARY

THE STRIKE.

Sosnovice, Feb. 9.—Strikers to day attacked workers in the electric station. Troops fired from windows of the plant, wounding many of the people. The situation here is much disturbed, but the military force is sufficient to awe the strikers. Eight battalions of infantry, eight squadrons of cavalry and one regiment of Cossacks are in the town.

London, Feb. 9.—At the Conté thread mill and many other establishments strikers were to day paid three days' wages in advance, although it was claimed nothing was legally due them. Managers of Henschel's mill refused to pay anything and the workmen threatened to wreck the place. "The militia prepared to fire and for a moment the situation was extremely grave, but the management finally yielded and agreed to pay provided the men promised to return to work Monday. Another manager refused to pay the strikers, but at the point of revolvers was compelled to promise payment to morrow.

There were serious disturbances to day at Lubanice. Troops fired on the workmen, killing one and wounding two. Lubanice is on the Dobrynya river and is the seat of cotton, woolen and wall paper manufacturers.

London, Feb. 10.—Special dispatches from Warsaw, published in the morning papers, report the death of Governor General Tcherkoff, of the province of Warsaw, who was wounded in the leg in a recent encounter between troops and strikers.

Berlin, Feb. 10.—Press dispatches from Sosnovice describe the bloody character of the conflict between military and the strikers at the Katherinen Iron works. One correspondent telegraphs that fifteen persons were killed and thirty-five wounded, while another gives the number killed as fifty. The military fired eight volleys. Another collision occurred at Mikka mine, beyond Modzeff, where it is rumored 150 persons were killed. A third collision occurred yesterday forenoon near Milovice, but this affair was bloodless. It was feared numerous outbreaks would take place last night in various parts of the strike district of Russian Poland, since the strikers were gathering in groups, gassing and talking in a threatening manner.

TO SMOTHER THE FLAMES.

Houghton, Mich., Feb. 9.—The Keewauqua mine shafts have all been sealed over to smother the flames, thus shutting off the last hope of rescuing the five missing miners remaining underground. This brings the fatalities from the dynamite explosion up to six.

FROM BERLIN

Berlin, Feb. 9.—The reichstag to day began discussion of commercial treaties. The event of the day was the speech of Count von Kautz (Agrarian) asking information respecting Germany's trade relations with the United States, France and England under the new treaties. Kautz denied that long term commercial treaties were necessary, because the United States without such treaties has made rapid progress. He recited statistics to show that the conditions to day were decidedly unfavorable to Germany but most favorable to the United States. He referred particularly to sugar, iron and cotton. Count von Posadowsky responded briefly, but promised a general rejoinder to morrow.

The Lokal Anzeiger prints information, asserting that it is from inside sources at Dresden, according to which Dr. Koerner's trip to Florence is the result of a report of two Saxon detectives whom King Frederick Augustus sent to Florence several weeks ago to watch the behavior of Countess Montignoso (the king's former wife). News having reached Dresden from high aristocratic circles of Florence that Countess Montignoso was involved in a new love affair, the king decided to investigate through detectives. Their report and that of the German consul at Florence was so damaging that the king sent Koerner with the view of bringing about a revision of the arrangements made with the Countess Montignoso at the time of her divorce from the then crown prince of Saxony. The king, the Anzeiger says, is evidently determined to take Princess Anna from her mother and also discontinue or reduce the present allowance of $10,000 annually to Countess Montignoso. The Anzeiger also prints a Florence special that aristocratic families there refuse to receive the countess because of an affair with Count Carl Gleicardner.

If you are interested in Southern lands, come and go to Mississippi next week with us. Buy land where you can get for a low price and rent it for five, six and seven dollars per acre.

THE BEST INVESTMENT OF ALL—Southern cotton lands. Lots of people are now getting seven dollars for land that cost them very little more per acre. If you are a coward, don't go down and buy. Stay where you are and make two or three per cent on your money. If you are a live one and want to make money, buy a small or large cotton plantation and live easy.

We don't tell you this. We ask you to go and see for yourself. Seeing is believing with most of us. We simply ask to show the goods, and they will sell themselves.

We have three fine farms in Morgan county that we can sell between now and March first.

We have some nice lots in the west part of the city; also fine homes on West State, Sandusky and Lafayette. Also three storerooms. Also thirty thousand dollars waiting to be loaned out. If you don't want it, tell the fellow who does. We'll sell any old thing you've got to sell.

Don't forget that we take your property and manage it the same as you do. We are very small commission. We take the worry. You get the money.

You spin the thread of your own life. Fate is only an onlooker.

To those who see clearly the world looks to be a pretty fine place.

Some ponder long before they act, others act first and ponder even longer.

Big, worthless ambitions often unfit us for attaining to the little noble ones that we might easily realize.

The first woman to hold an engineer's certificate in the District of Columbia is Mrs. Amasa Berger, of Washington.

Senators and congressmen get a salary of $5,000 and mileage at the rate of 20 cents a mile.

The leading department stores of New York and Brooklyn spend $3,500,000 a year in advertising. It would be joking to ask: "Does it pay?"

Having been elected as a presidential elector for any given state in the union, it costs a man a fine of $1,000 to refuse to qualify.

The construction of a large terminal railway station with every facility for loading and discharging vessels, in basins specially to be constructed, has been decided upon at New Orleans.

We feel sorry for the man who does not read his home paper. He is no better man than a man without a country. He is like a homeless cow that has no regular pasture, but grazes promiscuously on weeds and chistles. No matter what other papers he may read, the straightforward citizen always insists on having his home paper.

Nearly all troubles wind themselves up if you give them time enough. The best cure for any sorrow is good, hard work. If you keep busy you can't spare the time to fret and worry. Besides, to be miserable and unhappy is evidence of lack of mental strength. Don't do it.

CHINAMAN HAS TROUBLES.

A phanton belonging to the Cherry livery stable was badly damaged in front of the Keating store Thursday afternoon about 3:40 o'clock. The horse was driven by one of the employees of the Wah Lee Chinese laundry on East State street, who was collecting laundry from the private houses of the city. The C. P. & St. L. passenger train, north bound, was leaving the depot and a number of carriages were standing on East North street waiting for the train to pass. The Chinaman who was driving the phanton stopped his horse near the carriages and when the train passed by the crossing his horse shied to one side and the driver thinking that the animal was going to run away began pulling the lines. He backed the buggy into a carriage owned by Tinker Stewart, tearing the right front wheel from his own vehicle. The Chinaman was thrown violently to the ground, but escaped injury. Mr. Stewart jumped from his carriage and caught the frightened horse by the bridle thereby keeping him from doing further injury to the vehicles which were standing near.

RAILROAD NEWS NOTES

Broken Rail on Al on at Petersburg—Wabash Yards Were Congested Thursday—Veteran Baggageman.

A small wreck occurred on the C. & A. Thursday evening at about 6 o'clock between the Sangamon river and the Petersburg station, when freight No. 87 struck a broken rail. Only one car left the track and the damage was slight. No. 14 was delayed about two hours and second 82 was laid out about the same length of time. The damage was repaired in time for No. 7 to come in on time, with a slow order of three miles an hour over the danger point.

The Wabash yards presented an unusual sight yesterday afternoon, when five freight and two passenger occupied the main tracks and sidings at one time. They were through freights 90 first and second; 91, first and second; local freight, 70; passengers Nos. 9 and 22.

George Mullett, who runs on the Red Limited with Conductor Corey, is the veteran baggageman of the Alton road, holding the remarkable record of thirty-four years of continuous service with that company. He commenced work in 1871 and has missed but very few trips since. He has long since earned a record for being the most faithful and most accurate man in the service. He so seldom misses a trip that when his well known features are missing, the absence is the subject of general remark from the end of the road to the other. He is also famed for his methodical habits. He has reduced the system of handling baggage to such a fine point that no matter how many trunks he has in the car or how much other labor he has to perform, he is never behind in his work and is always ready when the train reaches a station. He is the name of accuracy and when a trunk goes astray or some error is made, the investigation usually demonstrates that Mr. Mullett was in the right and the other fellow in the wrong. He looks almost as young as he did thirty years ago and bids fair to round out another thirty-four years.

Mr. Pipenburger, aged 60 years, was struck by the end of the pilot beam on engine No. 322 at the Madison street crossing in Springfield Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. He was crossing the track when the engine struck him and knocked him to the ground. He was not seriously injured and walked to his home, No. 438 West Carpenter street, without assistance.

Ed Welch, of Springfield, was down this way yesterday interviewing the friends of his old home. He now wears a conductor's cap on the Wabash road between Hannibal and Quincy and feels well pleased with his job.

J. W. Johnson, claim agent for the Alton, arrived in the city Thursday evening to investigate the case of William Boruff, who was killed by an Alton train at Murrayville.

Mr. Hess, D. P. A. of the Wabash at Springfield, was a business visitor in the city Thursday.

Herbert Lang, T. P. A. of the Great Central of Chicago, was in the city on railroad business Thursday. George Jenkins, traveling passenger agent of the Pennsylvania system, of Des Moines, Iowa, spent Thursday in Jacksonville on business.

The "Wendy White Walker" company came in over the Wabash Thursday and was transferred to the Alton. The company played in Ashland last evening.

A special train pulled by Alton engine No. 222 and in charge of Engineer Stuart and Conductor Preese, came in over the Wabash at 11:40 Thursday morning. The train was transferred to the Alton track here and left at 11:50 for Kansas City. Private cars No. 502 and No. 503 were attached and were occupied by the following Alton officials: C. A. Goodnow, general manager; C. A. King, assistant general freight agent; Joseph Blinbon, freight traffic manager, and W. B. Causey, superintendent of maintenance of way.

A. M. Nye, traveling freight agent of the Big Four, of Peoria, spent Thursday in Jacksonville interviewing the local railroad officials.

Engineer Glenn, of the Beardstown division of the Burlington, is ill with a gripple and his place is being filled by Engineer A. F. Clark.

PLEASANT SURPRISE.

A number of the relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fawcett of North Church street drove in from the Point neighborhood one evening recently on a bob sled and treated them to a very enjoyable surprise. The guests were at once made welcome and a very pleasant evening was spent with games, music and recitations. The guests had come prepared for an oyster supper, which was greatly enjoyed by all. Those who participated in the pleasant event were Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Wilson and son, Miss Adelaide Rawlings and Mrs. George Wilson. The crowd was indebted to Joseph Wilson for the use of his sled.

RED MEN GAVE DANCE.

Delaware Tribe No. 78, I. O. R. M., gave a very enjoyable tribal dance in their hall Thursday evening. A good crowd was in attendance and the affair was a pleasurable one in every particular.

W. Hotkum, of Indianapolis, a brother Red Man, was a guest of the local tribe, and entertained the crowd with a number of clever card tricks during the evening. Light refreshments were served.

Much credit for the successful management of the affair is due to the capable management of Mr. O. Spaulding.

COLDER WEATHER AGAIN.

The mercury ran the descending scale again last evening and at an early hour this (Friday) morning the thermometer registered 6 degrees above zero, with a slight wind blowing and every indication pointing to a still lower temperature. RUSH FROM CHURCH
PANIC STRICKEN

Panic stricken, and in a high state of excitement, an audience of several hundred persons rushed from the Baptist church of Waverly Thursday evening during the progress of a stereopticon entertainment. The panic was caused by an explosion supposed to have resulted from an infusion of too much gas from one of the tanks used in the operating of the stereopticon.

The entertainment was half over when the explosion occurred and the first note of warning, that the audience had that anything was wrong, was a sheet of flame which shot up from the machine and flooded the darkened church with a glaring light. One of the Baker brothers who was operating the machine acted promptly and breaking the connecting pipes from the gas tanks jerked the machine from its moorings and carried it through the door, which was near at hand.

The sight of the flames was the signal for the audience to break for the doors and a rush and jam occurred that seemed fraught with most disastrous results. Many women fainted and some of the more hasty broke out the glass in the windows of the church and sought to escape by this means. Meanwhile the more becalmed of the audience, assisted by Baker brothers, gathered several rugs which were on the floor of the church and smothered the incipient fire that had started. Notwithstanding the timely action of all connected with the management of the church edifice resulted and the interior will probably have to be redecorated.

The Waverly fire department was called out and although they arrived promptly the fire was extinguished before their arrival and their services were not needed.

Several persons who jumped from the windows of the church received cuts and one of the Baker brothers was badly burned about the hands, caused from carrying out the machine. Dr. Walter Allyn dressed his injury. Had the flames reached the nitrogen and oxygen tanks a fearful explosion would have resulted and the loss of life and property might have been very great.

The entertainment was being given by the Ladies Aid society of the church.

FACULTY RECITAL

The faculty recital given in the chapel of the Illinois Woman's college Thursday evening by Miss Pearl Cora Higby, pianist, and Miss Phebe Jefferson Kreider, soprano, assisted by Miss Eldredge and Miss Williamson, accompanists, was a delightful musical treat and was greatly enjoyed by the large audience present. The faculty recitals of the Illinois College of Music are always awaited with great expectations and the audiences are never disappointed.

Miss Higby is a pianist of rare talent, who imparts to her playing an ease and grace which is at all times pleasing, and adds much to the value of her work. Her fingering is confident and sure and while her style is by no means flashy or spectacular, she appears at her best in the more brilliant passages. In the Concerto number her power over the instrument appeared at its best, the runs being taken with ease and brilliance, and the crescendo passages being given with grand effect.

Miss Kreider is so well known to Jacksonville audiences that comment upon her artistic efforts would be but a repetition of former notices. Her numbers last evening were greeted with enthusiastic applause, which was as ever well deserved. Her vocalization of the Aria was grand, testing to the fullest the wonderful powers of the artist.

The work of Miss Eldredge and Miss Williamson as accompanists added much to the pleasure of the program.

The program was as follows:

Fourth Valse Godard
Pan's Flute Godard
The Platterer Chamnade

Valse, Op. 70, No. 1 Chopin

The line-ups were as follows:

MET IN JOINT SESSION.
The Morgan County Medical society met in joint session with the ministers of the city at the public library Thursday evening. Rev. A. B. Morey, D. D., and Dr. D. W. Field read excellent papers on "The Relationship of the Two Professions," which were well received. The latter part of the evening was most pleasantly spent in discussion of the professions. Dr. Reid acted as secretary on account of the absence of Dr. Norbury.

PARTY IN THE COUNTRY.
The friends and neighbors of Charles Hoagland planned a pleasant surprise on him Thursday evening. They met by appointment and drove to his home three and one-half miles northeast of the city, where they were most cordially received and where a delightful evening was spent. Games and music were enjoyed and every one present entered heartily into the spirit of the happy gathering. Samuel Francis and J. L. McDonald planned the surprise. Excellent refreshments were served and about thirty persons were present.

DEATH RECORD

MINTON.
Word was received Thursday of the death of Mrs. W. B. Minton at her home in Greenville, which occurred Thursday morning. The deceased is the mother of Mrs. W. B. Robinson, of this city, who during the past week has been at her bedside.

Death came to Mrs. Minton very suddenly, for while enjoying the best of health and working about her home only a little over a week ago, she was stricken by a severe stroke of paralysis. After a few days she seemed to rally, but again she relapsed into a serious condition and soon it was known she was beyond help from human hands. Her's was a life of purpose and of comfort and sympathy to many. Her kindly bearing toward all won her innumerable friends, by whom she was so well known.

Mrs. Minton has a number of relatives in this city and only recently visited here.

She is survived by her husband, Rev. W. B. Minton, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Greenville, and one daughter, Mrs. W. B. Robinson.

The funeral will be held in Greenville this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

SEYMOUR.
Samuel Seymour, Sr., died at his home in the Providence neighborhood Wednesday evening at 11:30 o'clock. He had been a sufferer from heart disease for several years and was also afflicted with apoplexy, death resulting from the latter cause.

The deceased was 73 years of age and was one of the best known farmers in Morgan county. He had been a resident of the Providence neighborhood during his entire life time and had a reputation for being an honorable and God fearing man. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Vesso Seymour, of Franklin, and Miss Ella, residing at the family residence, and two sons, W. S. and S. B. Seymour, both residing near Franklin. He is also survived by one sister, Mrs. S. Bull, of Eureka Springs, Ark., and three brothers, Al., of Franklin; William, of Girard, and John P., also of Franklin.

ROSS.
Word has been received of the death of Mrs. William Ross, of Chicago, who passed away early Thursday morning at the home of her daughter, Miss Carrie Ross, at the advanced age of 87 years. Mrs. Ross had been a resident of Chicago for the past twelve years, but previous to that time Jacksonville had been her home and in this city the greater part of her life was spent. She was the daughter of the late Rev. James Dunlap and was the youngest of a family of thirteen children. Three children survive, two daughters, Miss Carrie, of Chicago, Mrs. William Dewey, of this city, who was at her bedside, and Charles Ross, of Tacoma, Wash.

The remains will be brought to this city Saturday, where the interment will take place. A more extended obituary notice will appear later.

JOHNSON.
Mr. and Mrs. Herman Johnson, Thursday received word of the death at her home in Kansas City, of the wife of their son, G. A. Johnson, which occurred Thursday morning. Mrs. Johnson will be remembered by many here, as she visited her husband's parents in this city about six months ago. She was a young woman in the prime of life, and her loss will be a severe shock to the bereaved husband, who will have the sympathy of a host of friends in this city and vicinity. She had been in poor health for some time, but her condition was not regarded as serious until very recently. Mrs. Herman Johnson left yesterday for Kansas City to be present at the funeral.

BAGDELL.
Carl Bagdell, a freight conductor on the Iowa Central, was killed in a wreck on that road near Des Moines Thursday morning at 2 o'clock. The wreck was caused by the crashing together of two sections of a freight train. Mr. Bagdell is known in this vicinity, as his wife, who is deceased, was formerly Miss Mary Ransdell, of this county.

A sister-in-law, Mrs. Dakota Green, of the vicinity of Woodson, received a telegram Thursday afternoon announcing the fact that the remains will be sent to this city, where they will be laid beside the remains of his wife in Diamond Grove cemetery.

DODSWORTH.
Stephen Dodsworth, an old resident of this city, died at the home of his son, R. W. Dodsworth, on South East street, Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock. Mr. Dodsworth was born in England 90 years ago and is survived by two sons, R. W. Dodsworth, of this city, and Robert Dodsworth, of Mt. Hamilton, Iowa; and two daughters, Mrs. Robert Bell, of Mt. Hamilton, Ia., and Mrs. J. W. Stimpson, of DeGraff, Kansas.

The funeral announcement and obituary will appear later.

The SPORTING WORLD

Jenkins on Jiu Jitsu.
Tom Jenkins, the noted wrestler, formerly champion of the world and only recently defeated, has carefully analyzed Jiu Jitsu, the Japanese method of wrestling, which is so rapidly coming into vogue in the United States.
"Jiu Jitsu, or Japanese wrestling, is nothing more or less than a combination of the old Cornish style of collar and elbow wrestling and rough and tumble fighting," says Jenkins. "I have carefully investigated the Japanese method of wrestling and was in company with one of the best teachers of the method in Japan. He explained carefully and thoroughly to me the style of self defense used among his countrymen."
"The promoters of the system of Japanese self defense claim that with one of their holds any man can overcome one twice his size and weight. How are you to get that hold? There's the rub!"
"These so called 'new' holds exploited by the Japs have been in use among American and English wrestlers on the mat for many years and for the most part have been thought so little of as to have been barred from reputable matches."

Jack O'Brien Willing.
If Bob Fitzsimmons and Tommy Ryan really mean business in saying they are anxious to fight "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien the prospects for a high class ring battle in the near future are very good. The mitt artist from Quakerville has expressed satisfaction at the prospects of a battle with either Fitz or Ryan and says he has been waiting so long he had almost given up hope of getting either one in the ring. In regard to Ryan's proposition that the weight be 154 pounds at 3 o'clock O'Brien says:
"I am willing to make 154 pounds at 3 o'clock, and he can accept or refuse."

as he pleases. It only needs a glance at our records to show which man is willing to do the most fighting, and I am satisfied to let the public judge which one is bluffing.
"It makes no difference which one takes me on first. All I want is for one of the pair to come to terms and give me a chance to make good my championship claims."

Canadians Not After the Canada Cup.
The Canadian yachtsmen, who are interested in the coming races for the Canada cup, are making strenuous efforts to capture that trophy next summer. It is now held by the Rochester Yacht club, having been won by the Irondequoit. The Canadians have placed orders for two boats already, and it is probable that two more will be ordered.

Alfred Mylne, who by many is regarded as the best designer on the other side, is designing one boat, and William Pile is at work on the other. These boats are sure to be fast, and the Rochester men will have to stir themselves to keep the cup in this country. Already three defenders have been ordered. These are to be built from designs by N. G. Herreshoff, Clinton H. Craue and Charles F. Herreshoff. It is said that two more defenders are to be built.

Pullman Announces Contracts.

Kraenzlein to Coach Haverford.
Dr. Alvin C. Kraenzlein, holder of the world's record for the 120 and 220 yard hurdles and former captain of the University of Pennsylvania track team, has accepted the position of coach of the Haverford Grammar school track team. Kraenzlein will make his home in Philadelphia and assist coaching the Pennsylvania track candidates at Franklin field. Since his graduation Dr. Kraenzlein has been practicing dentistry in Milwaukee, but has given to his practice to take the Haverford berth.

The Ice Prisoners

[Copyright, 1904, by T. C. McClure.]
One day, when 480 miles to the south of Cape Horn in the American brig Wanderer, we sighted a derelict and lowered a boat to give her an overhauling. In making our way back we were caught in a squall and carried off of sight to leeward in ten minutes. There wasn't over an hour of daylight left us when the squall came down, and when night fell the guests had settled down into a steady gale.

At about 9 o'clock each man snuggled down to make himself as comfortable as possible, and it was an hour later when the roar of breakers came to our ears. Every one instantly divined that we were drifting down upon an iceberg and that we were also perfectly helpless in the matter. We had lashed the ones together and flung them overboard for a drag to keep the boat's head to the sea. To have pulled in the drag would have been fatal. Before the gale could have been detached we should have been in the trough of the sea. I presently was drawn nearer and could see the ghastly glare of the berg through the darkness. We missed the northwest corner of it by not more than a hundred feet, and the spray of a receding wave half filled our craft.

We drifted along the great island of ice for twenty minutes before reaching its southern face, and then a current drew us into the lee of it, and we knew that we were temporarily saved. We got in our drag and put out the oars, and after rowing nearly half a mile we found an inlet or bay making into the berg and ran into it. This bay extended back into the berg a quarter of a mile and was about a hundred feet in width. It was like a great river flowing down to the sea between high cliffs. We were perfectly sheltered here, and by the light of the boat's lantern we made a hearty meal of our provisions, and all turned in for a sleep. The weather was freezing cold, but all were comfortably clad, and we had the sail of the boat to cover us in. We could hear the wind howling above us and feel the berg tremble as the great waves flung themselves against the face, but every man had a good sleep and woke up stout hearted in the morning. I have called the mass of ice an iceberg. Perhaps ice island would be a better term for it, as when we came to inspect it by daylight we found it to be about two miles long on each face.

The gale was still piping away and a tremendous sea running when we awoke, and of course we had no thought of leaving the shelter we had. The first move was to get to the top of the berg and have a look for the ship. Mr. Davis, the mate, took this upon himself, but he made no discovery to reward his efforts. He, however, got a good idea of the lay of things and selected a place for landing. When he returned we left the bay and pulled to the east and landed upon a sort of shelf. We had blocks of ice at hand to build a hut, and before noon we had a cabin big enough to comfortably hold five of us and the stores from the boat. In the afternoon in searching about we found three or four dwarf pines, planks from a ship's bottom, a cook's galley and chairs and a table, all but the planks from the wreck of some merchant ship. So inactive was the cold that night that no man could have lived for five minutes outdoors. At midnight a gale came on.

The gale was the tall end of winter. On the fourth day the weather became so mild that the ice began to melt, and the mate told us that our island was in a current and was being carried south at the rate of two miles an hour. We were in peril now from the breaking up of the mass. On the fifth day it turned completely around, and a great rift appeared right through the center. We watched it for a day, and, seeing it widen, we took up our quarters in what we thought a safer position. We were not an hour too soon. The rift through the center continued to widen and deepen, and by and by there was a great crash, and the berg separated in halves, leaving us upon the larger one. Before night the waves had trimmed the base of our berg of all incumbrances, and we went drifting along so steadily and majestically that we almost forgot our peril.

For three days and nights nothing happened worth relating, except that we discovered and managed to kill two seals which crawled upon the berg from the water to sun themselves. As the winds were light, our berg had no motion except from the current. On the morning of the tenth day, before daylight had yet come we crashed into another berg which had probably grounded, and our escape from instant destruction was truly marvelous. The south side of our berg was split off by the impact, leaving our hut standing on the very edge of a cliff sixty feet high. We had to cut our way through the back wall to escape.

Our boat went with the piece, and within two hours the berg heeled over on its side. This movement took place very slowly and brought us on the crest of the lump instead of being on a shelf near the water. We soon had another but up, and next day, the berg being quite still again, we made another find.

ITS MERIT IS PROVED

RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

A Prominent Cincinnati Woman Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Completely Cured Her.

The great good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many of our leading scientists, and thinking people generally.

The following letter is only one of many thousands which are on file in the Pinkham office, and go to prove beyond question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound must be a remedy of great merit, otherwise it could not produce such marvelous results among sick and ailing women.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"About nine months ago I was a great sufferer with womb trouble, which caused me severe pain, extreme nervousness and frequent headaches, from which the doctor failed to relieve me. I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and within a short time felt better, and after taking five bottles of it I was entirely cured. I therefore heartily recommend your Compound as a splendid uterine tonic. It makes the monthly periods regular and without pain, and what a blessing it is to find such a remedy for so many women's troubles. I am pleased to recommend it to all suffering women."—Mrs. Sara Wilson, 31 East 3d Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

If you have suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness of the stomach, indigestion, bloating, leucorrhoea, flooding, nervous prostration, dizziness, faintness, "don't-care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, backache or the blues, these are sure indications of female weakness, some derangement of the uterus and ovarian trouble. In such cases there is one tried and true remedy—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Portable Hog Houses.

For housing there is nothing so good as small portable coops, which may be easily moved from one portion of the farm to another by hitching a team to one end. A convenient size is 6 by 10 feet, which may be divided by a partition in the middle, thus making comfortable room for two sows at farrowing time. These houses are made by taking two pieces 2 by 6 inches and sixteen feet long, placed on edge for sills, both of which are sharpened at one end, sled fashion. The sliding on one end is three feet and the other five feet, making a sled roof with a drop of two feet in six. A floor of boards is desirable, but not necessary, for cobs or coarse litter will raise the bottom above moisture when clean. Dry wheat straw or shredded fodder makes a comfortable bed. Doors and windows are made on the higher side, which during colder portions of the year should face the south.—Cor. American Agriculturist.

Grooming the Horse.

In winter the horse needs to be groomed with particular care, says Farm Journal. The currycomb is not then the enemy to the horse some folks would have us believe. It must be used diligently, together with the brush, to get the dust and dandruff out of the hair, so that the pores may be well opened. Of course there are different ways of combing a horse. One man will do it so that it will be a pleasure to the animal, while another will make him scinge and step around in real discomfort. It is a good plan to look into the way of doing this work. We may find that we are harsh. If we are, we ought to stop it.

Dipping Sheep.

The precautions to be adopted for the purpose of guarding against the introduction of sheep scab may be indicated in a few words. Every sheep owner should dip or dress his sheep twice a year, once after clipping and once in the fall. Such treatment will be found to have a beneficial effect on the general health of the sheep, as it should be borne in mind that besides the sheep scab parasite there are other parasites to which sheep are frequently subject and which can also be destroyed by proper dipping.—Wool Markets and Sheep.

Tumors on Horses.

No medicine will cure the large, hard, hot, painful tumors which sometimes form on the shoulder. It contains pus deep down under the levator humeri muscle and must be opened, washed out and packed daily with oakum saturated in a mixture of equal parts turpentine and raw linseed oil. If this is not done a fibroid tumor will form and have to be dissected out later and keep the horse from working for a month or six weeks.—Live Stock Report.

Profitable Hog Raising.

There is good profit to be made in breeding or feeding hogs, especially if you breed the right type, and that is the large type. In order to get the right kind you will have to breed from as near the type as you can get, and don't feed too much corn or fat forming food to growing stock, especially brood sows and growing pigs, for it is growth you want while young to make a frame so you can finish for market at a profit. Farm and Ranch.

CRITICISM OF STOESSEL

Port Arthur Commander Was Incapable, Says Czar's Admiral.

CALLS SURRENDER A DISGRACE.

Prisoner of Japanese Declares General Kondratenko Was Real Hero of the Siege and That Fortress Could Easily Have Held Out For Another Month—Has Great Admiration For the Enemy.

"The first Japanese naval attack on Port Arthur was an absolute surprise to both the Russian army and navy," says a Russian admiral, one of the Port Arthur prisoners at Tokyo. "I admired the manner in which the Japanese handled their ships and the remarkable way in which they concealed their movements, but they erred on the side of caution. If in this first attack they had launched all their torpedo boat flotilla against the Russian ships, which were in a condition of unpreparedness, instead of sending in only a few vessels they could have executed a disastrous coup de main by destroying practically every ship in the harbor."

"Had a similarly bold policy been carried out the Japanese could have landed a force to the west of the fortified lines and captured the fortress almost without opposition. The forts had not then been completed, and the majority of the guns had not been mounted. The garrison manning the entire line over ten miles numbered barely 3,000 men."

"There was friction between the army and the navy as the result of orders received from St. Petersburg. These orders came to General Stoessel and intimated that the navy should emerge and fight the Japanese. But it would have been hopeless to give Togo battle."

"General Stoessel, who was in absolute command of the fortress, vigorously opposed the naval policy. He maintained that despite the unpreparedness of the fortress Port Arthur could easily be defended by troops armed only with rifles. He opposed the idea that artillery was necessary, but this resulted in causing friction between him and the commanders of the fortress artillery."

"I am sorry to say that from the first General Stoessel proved to be incapable. Though in full command, he never visited the fighting positions during the lifetime of General Kondratenko, who was not only the life of the defense, but possessed in a large measure the quality of peace-making. He intervened in all cases of trouble and always eloquently pleaded the cause of the emperor and the necessity for defense."

"By day and by night General Kondratenko visited every portion of the position and constantly risked his life. He was our inspiration. No Russian need be ashamed of the defense made by the garrison while Kondratenko lived."

"It is difficult for a Russian officer to talk about the end. It was worse than a mistake. It was a disgrace. The fortress could easily have held out for another month, as it had food and ammunition sufficient for that period, and if Kondratenko had remained alive it would have held out for months longer."

"For nearly two weeks it was known among the officers that Stoessel and his chief of staff, Reiss, who was incompetent, were preparing for surrender. Through Stoessel's servants the soldiers became aware of what was coming, and, brave as they were, the knowledge destroyed their enthusiasm."
"At a council of war held three days before capitulation, at which twenty-two of the higher officers of the army and navy were present, General Stoessel represented that if Port Arthur should be taken by assault there would be fighting in the streets and possibly a massacre. He mentioned the women and children of the garrison and said he thought it was the duty of the council to avoid such a possibility. Notwithstanding these representations only three officers, Chief of Staff Reiss and two others, favored capitulation."

"Stoessel's note to General Nogai came without warning, and the word surprise inadequately expresses our condition after the settlement of the majority of the council had been expressed. What the officers said and felt and how the men thought and behaved, all will be known later, but I say now that capitulation of the fortress was a disgrace to Russia."

"When the news that General Stoessel had sent a letter to General Nogai offering to surrender reached the navy we realized the necessity of destroying our ships beyond the possibility of their use by the Japanese, and this we did on the night of Jan. 1."

"We greatly admire the Japanese. The infantry are wonderful soldiers, and their patience is amazing. Our men are bigger and stronger, but the Japanese are quicker on their feet. They are very ingenious. We never feared a Japanese attempt to take the forts by assault. The Russian soldiers were always anxious to meet the Japanese at close quarters, and even at the last our men were confident of their superiority with the bayonet. The Japanese behaved excellently when they entered Port Arthur."

"I came as a prisoner to Japan because I felt it to be my duty to share the destinies of our men. I do not criticize those who gave their parole, but I believe that I would be dishonored if I returned to Russia after doing so."

A Japanese Production of "Faust."
In a production of "Faust" in Tokyo Mephistopheles was represented as a Russian, and Marguerite in the final tableau gave her hand to a victorious Japanese warrior returning from Manchuria.

PERFECT CONFIDENCE.

Where there used to be a feeling of uneasiness and worry in the household when a child showed symptoms of croup, there is now perfect confidence. This is owing to the uniform success of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the treatment of that disease. Mrs. M. I. Binsford, of Peolesville, Md., in speaking of her experience in the use of that remedy, says: "I have a world of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, for I have used it with perfect success. My child, Garland, is subject to severe attacks of croup and it always gives him prompt relief." For sale by all leading druggists.

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.

Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average bald-headed man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others, that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness. Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, inoculated a rabbit with Dandruff germ, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these hazardous germs it is necessary to apply Sewell's Hairdye.

"Destroy the cause—you remove the effect."

ACCIDENT MAY CAUSE DEATH

JESSE ALLEN INJURED AT CENTRAL HOSPITAL

Jesse Allen, who is employed at the Central Hospital for the Insane, met with a most unfortunate accident Thursday afternoon that may cost him his life. He was engaged in lowering the food elevator into the tunnel in the west wing of the main building and by mistake pulled the wrong rope and the elevator came down heavily laden with dishes, striking him on the right leg just above the knee. The force of the blow was such that the bones of the lower part of the limb, the tibia and fibula, were splintered below the knee causing excruciating pain and an injury of a very serious nature. Mr. Allen suffered intense agony, but was made as comfortable as possible until some of the medical staff of the institution could be called. Dr. H. A. Potts gave the necessary temporary relief and Dr. J. W. Hairgrove was summoned, who had the patient removed to Passavant hospital. An examination showed that the two bones mentioned had been badly splintered and that a complicated compound fracture had resulted. The broken pieces of bone were removed and the ends wired and a drainage tube inserted. Mr. Allen is past 60 years of age and this fact will make the knitting of the bones a very slow process if it is ever accomplished. The attending surgeon stated that if the accident had happened to a younger person the wisest course would have been to amputate the limb. The shock from the accident itself was so great to Mr. Allen's system that it was feared he could not stand an operation of this character.

Mr. Allen resides on South Diamond street and has been a resident of the city for the past two years. He has long been a resident of the county and was formerly in business in Waverly. This is the second misfortune he has experienced recently, as he was serving as turnkey at the jail when the jail delivery occurred and was badly beaten about the head at the time of the occurrence. He will have the deep sympathy of many friends and it is hoped that his recovery from the accident may be rapid.

BOWLING CONTEST

A bowling team from Roodhouse defeated a local team at the Drexel alleys Thursday evening three games out of five. The high score was made by Dinmore of the locals, with 218 while Todd of the visiting team made the high average, 178½.

EVENING COMPANY

A party was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Hill, of Oklahoma, Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Hemple on South Main street. A large number of their friends were present and the evening was most pleasantly spent in games and various other amusements. Delicious refreshments were served.

FUNERALS

The funeral of Charles DeSilva, Jr., was held at the Jordan Street Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. The services were in charge of Rev. R. F. Cressey, and were very impressive in character. A quartet composed of Mrs. Jas. Scott, Mrs. Jennie DeFreitas, Edw. Marks and Walter Vieira sang appropriate hymns.

The floral offerings were very beautiful, including many elaborate pieces. Among them was a design representing "30," sent by the employees of the operating department of the W. U. T. office in St. Louis, of which he was an employee for a time. Other designs were sent from Phoenix, Ariz., Ft. Smith, Ark., and a beautiful piece was sent by the local operators. They were in charge of Mrs. Fred Baptist, Miss Nellie Vasconcellos and Miss Ida Anderson. The floral tributes illustrated better than anything else the love and esteem in which Mr. DeSilva was held in every locality in which he had worked, and the fact that he was remembered after so long a time by merely chance acquaintances in indeed a touching tribute to the beauty of his character.

At the conclusion of the services at the church the remains were borne to Jacksonville cemetery and were there tenderly laid to rest. The bearers were Arthur Atkins, Roy D. Fontress, Joseph Pine, Robert Fortado, Walter DeShara and Frank Cokely.

Among those from out of the city who attended the funeral were Ben DeSilva, of Port Arthur, Tex.; Dr. Jos. DeSilva, of Rock Island; Mr. DeVares, of Springfield, and Miss Ida Anderson, of Springfield.

BIRTH RECORD

DEATH COMES SUDDEN

Mrs. Mary Vanceil, of Waverly, met with a sudden death Thursday evening while riding in a sleigh. She was being driven home by her nephew, Mr. A. C. Moffet, of Waverly, and without giving any indications of being in distress gave a gasp and sank at once into unconsciousness. Death was due to apoplexy. Mrs. Vanceil was 67 years of age and had lived in Waverly for many years. She had no near relatives living.

The nature of her death made it necessary to notify Coroner Spencer and he will go to Waverly this morning and hold an inquest.

DR. NORBURY ILL.

Dr. Frank P. Norbury is a patient at Our Savior's hospital, having been there since Wednesday. He is threatened with appendicitis, but it is not thought that an operation will be necessary. Dr. Norbury's numerous friends are one in the hope that his illness will be of short duration.
